

New Directions in Digital Textual Studies:
Book History, Scholarly Editing, and Curation in Conversation

Table of Contents

Introduction: This is Not a Book
Christopher Ohge & Kristen Schuster

I. Methods and Case Studies

1. Reading the edited collection, distantly: some trends in British theological publishing in the twentieth century
Peter Webster

2. Cataloguing the Enlightenment: Legacy Practices of Organised Knowledge
Zoe Screti

3. Editing Authenticity in the Manuscript Text: Prefaces, Diplomatic Transcriptions, and Scans
Geoffrey Turnovsky

4. The Printing Surface in an Age of Digital Reproduction
Giles Bergel

5. From Bookshelves to Bytes: Navigating the Digital Transformation of Writers' Libraries
Anke Jaspers & Martina Schönbächler

6. A Graph Database Approach to Editing and Publishing Infinitely Recombinant Digital Texts with OCHRE
Miller C. Prosser

7. Pragmatic Digital Editing, Data Analysis, and Creative-Critical Practices: The Case of Mary Anne Rawson's Anti-Slavery Anthology The Bow in the Cloud (1834)
Christopher Ohge

8. Extracting for Experience: Material Annotation and its Affordances in Textual Studies
Mary Erica Zimmer

II. Interdisciplinary Reflections

9. Digital Publishing Practices in Museums: Old Habits, New Platforms

Ellen Charlesworth & Claire Warwick

10. Folklore Archives in the Digital Age

Karoline Strittmater

11. Unlocking Literary Heritage: From Cabinets of Curiosities to Digital Story-Telling

Wim Van Mierlo

12. Teaching Truman with Hypertext Methods: Project Whistlestop over Two Decades

Ashney Randle, Logan Thompson, Renee Jones, & Sarah Buchanan

13. Describing New Media: Strategies and Recommendations for Teaching Structured Data in Multi-Disciplinary Humanities Contexts

Kristen Schuster

14. Honey, AI Shrunk the Archive: Artificial Intelligence as Compression Algorithm

Jon Ippolito

15. Book History for the Future: Connecting Communications Media

Leah Henrickson

Afterword

Dirk Van Hulle

Prepublication Draft